

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information processing apparatus comprises a display device capable of changing a display brightness, a unit which detects a peripheral
5 illuminance of the display device, a unit which sets the display brightness of the display device in accordance with the detected illuminance, a unit which corrects the set display brightness, and a unit which 10 changes a brightness correction amount corrected in accordance with the detected illuminance.